

ITS WORK OF MERCY DONE.

The World Bread Fund Closed After a Record of Magnificent and Far- Reaching Results.

1,410,889 LOAVES GIVEN AWAY.

Quick and Practical Charity Made Possible by the Generosity of The World's Kindly Readers.

The World Bread Fund has ended its work. The final loaf was given away on Friday last, and the grand total as shown by the books of the fund is a magnificent aggregate of 1,410,889 loaves handed out through the generosity of friends and readers of The World to the poor and deserving of this city in the exceptional season of distress that is happily past. The simple platform on which the Bread Fund was started, to supply every hungry mouth with a loaf of good wholesome bread, was followed from start to finish. No one who came was refused, and when the distress rose to high-water mark no less than three depots were in daily operation, with an ample force of distributors busily employed handing out the coveted loaves to the thousands of applicants.

No charity on such liberal lines was ever before attempted in this or any other city. It was made a success of the highest sort by the liberality with which thousands upon thousands contributed in money, in effort, and in other ways. The fund was able to swell the available fund. Benefited a great portion of the 85,683 loaves which have been acknowledged at the five cent per loaf valuation placed on donations when the fund opened. How much less than this figure was paid is evidenced by the purchase of over 1,000,000 loaves from the dozen or more bakers to whom orders were given.

The greatest benefit was that at the Madison Square Garden at which Corbett and Mitchell reproduced the famous Jacksonville ring scene. This scene, which was a masterpiece of the art of the stage, was a great success. The benefit brought in 15,354 loaves; the Sons of New York, 18,477; the United Musical Quartet, 11,176; the big opera matinee, 20,000; the Atlantic Garden benefit, 7,574; Carl Marberg's dancing class, 6,580. Other benefit entertainments raised the total from this source to a very large supply of bread. The Liberty Bell, on its philanthropic tour about town, brought in 3,428 loaves. "Little Wooden Shoes," the Bread Fund song, turned harmony into good provender to the extent of 3,428 loaves. Visitors to the dome of the Pulitzer Building remembered the poor in the great city at their feet by the generous contribution of nearly 25,000 loaves.

The single name contributors were an army headed by some notable names. Gov. Flower gave 4,000 loaves; Chas. Broadway Route, 2,000; William Hadam, 1,000; the American Express Company, 1,000; Brill Bros., 2,000; Ottinger & Bro., 1,000; Henry Kahn, 1,000; Norman L. Munro, 2,000; Washington E. Connor, 1,000; Henry Clevs & Co., 2,000; William A. Grace, 2,000; Alfred Stockley, 2,000; Maria A. Becket, 2,000; W. Z. H. Campbell, 1,000; Thornton L. Motley, 2,000; J. J. Aster, 2,000; Ferdinand Lang, 1,000; Senator William H. Hearst, California, 1,000; William F. Cutting, 2,000; W. E. Stokes, 1,000; the Syrian Colony, 2,000; from the Bloomfield Asylum 2,400 loaves were received. James Norton, Long Island City, gave 1,000; and Mrs. Perry E. Roche, of Syracuse, 2,000.

Many poets, judges, clubs and associations voted sums to the fund, and the soldier boys of the United States heard from again and again in generous donations. The great body of anonymous givers reached the fund through the medium of the little boxes which were scattered all over the city. These brought in an aggregate of 40,000 loaves. The work on this section of the fund was really done by the firms who gave the boxes room and saw that the patrons were given every opportunity to contribute. Dolan, the Park road luncheon, in his two establishments secured no less than 2,000 loaves, and is an easy leader in this line. Donetta's small establishment secured 1,000 loaves. J. J. Dowd's cafe yielded 757 loaves. The Astor House at desk and around, 777; Child's cafe rooms, 681; Naughton Bros., bakeries, 678; and C. G. Hickox, No. 109 Sixth Avenue, secured cash for 672 loaves.

From everywhere the same report was heard that no more popular achievement had ever been presented to a generous public.

In a previous presentation of the business side of the fund The World in its capacity as almoner made report of the number of loaves purchased from each of the supplying baker firms. That list brought to the finish of the fund's work stands as follows:

Loaves.	Loaves.
Eller & Son.....	257,307
Gold.....	338,484
Vogel.....	259,718

Bauer.....	14,300
Roswell.....	14,300
Wasserman.....	8,256
Bleeker.....	8,256
Grand total.....	1,410,889

Adding to this the bread contributed in kind by bakers, hotels, boarding-houses and by those who preferred giving the orders to their family bakers, the final figure of 1,410,889 loaves is reached. It is not an easy task to form an adequate mental picture of what that quantity of bread really is. But end to end, the loaves would reach from New York to London, and would extend nearly to Richmond, in weight there would be 325 tons of bread. In the area of a loaf, and supposing them to be arranged in a row, there would be sufficient to entirely pave Fifth Avenue from curb to curb, from Twenty-third street to the Central Park entrance.

MANGLED BY HIS OWN TRAIN.

Conductor Bassett Killed on the Brooklyn Elevated Railroad.

Thomas Bassett, a conductor on the Brooklyn Elevated Railroad, was killed by his own train at 10 o'clock last night. When the train stopped at the station, Bassett, who had finished his work for the night, opened the gate of the first car, intending to descend to the structure and get the tracks to the station-master's office to ascertain when he should report for duty in the morning. Just as he stepped off the car the train started up, causing him to slip and fall backward under the wheels, and the three rear cars passed over him. Death was instantaneous.

His body was picked up in sections and taken to Farrell's undertaking establishment, at Atlantic Avenue and Bradford Street. Bassett lived at Grand and Myrtle Avenues, Brooklyn.

IS A STRING ON THE QUEEN'S CUP?

Mr. Chamberlayne Put It Up for Competition Before, but with Practically Prohibitive Conditions.

The interview with the English yachtman, Mr. Tankerville Chamberlayne, printed in The World yesterday, in which he repeats his offer to put up for international competition the queen's cup, won by the Arrow in 1872, caused quite a stir in yachting circles, and there was some speculation as to what a yachtsman, if any, would challenge for the trophy.

The Arrow was built in 1872, and is a 12-ton ketch, with a 12-foot mast, and a 12-foot keel. She was built by the English yachtman, Mr. Tankerville Chamberlayne, and was named in honor of the queen. She was built in 1872, and was the first of a class of yachts built by Chamberlayne.
